

Clean Air, Strong Starts

Free air quality and climate change workshop for Wandsworth's expectant and new parents

When:

Wednesday the 20th of
August 14:30 - 15:30

Where:

ROSE Clubroom, Ascalon Street,
Savona Estate, Battersea, SW8 4DL

Are you expecting or have a little one under 5?
Come and join us!

Learn something new about air quality and its effect on pregnancy and children's health

Share your experiences and discuss air quality and climate change in the local area

Leave with easy ways you can help to protect your health and children's health

What is Clean Air, Strong Starts?

Across the borough, we are running free workshops for all parents and parents-to-be to raise awareness of the impact of air pollution and climate change on pregnancy and children's' health. We'll be sharing easy ways you can help to protect your health and young children's health.

How do I join the workshop?

If you can, click here or scan this QR code to tell us that you're planning to join us at this workshop. Walk-ins on the day are also more than welcome.

Why is this workshop important?

Air pollution is often invisible but its impact on our health is real - and children and vulnerable people are most at risk.

However, small changes can lead to big improvements in our air quality and health.

Come along to the workshop to find out more!

